Processing Information: The Helen Taussig Collection was processed by Harold Kanarek in 1983, with support by NIH Grant 03594 from the National Library of Medicine. Students assistants John Hoffman, Karen Pecora, Ellen Farina, Paul Sorrentino, and Rodney Carter worked on the project. Data entry assistance in completing the finding aid for the Helen Taussig Collection was provided by Emma Graf, who converted the unpublished collection inventory to the catalog in 2009.

Collection Overview

Extent: 132 linear feet

Creator: Taussig, Helen B. (Helen Brooke), 1898-1986.

Helen B. Taussig

24 May 1898-20 May 1986

Helen B. Taussig was born in Cambridge, Massachusetts. She received her A.B. in 1921 from the University of California and her M.D. in 1927 from the Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine. She served as an Archibald Fellow in Medicine at Johns Hopkins and worked at the heart station from 1927 until 1928. From 1928 until 1930, she interned in pediatrics at the Johns Hopkins Hospital. In 1930, Edwards Park appointed Taussig physician-in-charge of the Harriet Lane Cardiac Clinic, a position she held until 1963. She also served on the faculty of the school of medicine from 1930 until 1963, when she became professor emeritus of pediatrics. Taussig was a pioneer in the diagnosis and treatment of congenital heart disease. She helped to develop the surgical procedure commonly known as the "blue baby" operation and discovered the teratological effects of the drug thalidomide when administered to pregnant women .

1927-1963 - Johns Hopkins Hospital

1930-1986 - Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine

Scope and Content:

The Helen B. Taussig Collection spans her entire career at Johns Hopkins and documents her varied professional and personal activities. Professional materials include correspondence, grant records, manuscripts, notes, patient records, and research materials relating to tetralogy of Fallot patients and their long-term follow-up. Personal materials include awards, biographical material, correspondence, manuscripts, photographs, and scrapbooks. The collection documents Taussig's activities as a national leader in promoting health care issues and her support of a wide range of social causes, including her successful campaign in the early 1960's to ban the use of thalidomide by pregnant women.

Item 233784: The first Blalock-Taussig anastomosis / by Dr. Helen Taussig - 1968-02-19

Extent: 1 audio file (44.1 MB, MP3 format). Proxy file.; 1 audio file (397 MB, WAV format). Preservation master file.; 1 sound tape reel (48 min.) : analogue, 3 3/4 ips., 2 track, mono ; 1/4 in. original.

Scope and Content: Pediatric cardiologist Helen Taussig, along with Vivien Thomas and Alfred Blalock, pioneered the first surgical operation to treat tetralogy of fallot, a congenital heart defect commonly called "blue baby syndrome", due to the characteristic blue skin pigmentation of children with the defect. In this public lecture, recorded in February of 1968, Dr. Taussig discusses the blue baby operation and all of the work that led up to its first being performed in November of 1944.

Subject - Name: Blalock, Alfred, 1899-1964.
Taussig, Helen B. (Helen Brooke), 1898-1986.
Thomas, Vivien T., 1910-1985.

Item 233785: Supravalvular stenosis of the aorta / Dr. Richard Rowe

Extent: 1 sound tape reel (ca. 32 min.) : analogue, 7 1/2 ips. ; 1/4 in. original.; 1 audio file (265 MB, WAV format). Preservation master file.

Item 265883: Miracle in a month - 1947

Extent: 1 film reel (474 ft.) : sil., col. ; 16 mm. answer print.; 1 film reel (474 ft.) : sil., col. ; 16 mm. internegative.; 1 film reel (474 ft.) : sil., col. ; 16 mm. original reversal print.; 1 film reel (474 ft.) : sil., col. ; 16 mm. duplicate reversal print.

Scope and Content: This film was compiled by parents of a "blue baby" in 1947 and donated to Johns Hopkins. It shows home movies of the young boy on his third birthday and every subsequent birthday from 1938-1946, at which time the child in deteriorating health was admitted to Johns Hopkins for surgery. The film then shows the boy coming home from his operation in good health and walking by himself from the train. Finally, we see the healthy boy 3 months after his operation playing and riding a bike. Aside from its medical interest, the film is also notable for wartime references, such as the child dressed as a Navy officer. Inter-titles explain each scene.
