Collection Overview

Creator: Johns Hopkins Medical Institutions. Office of Public Affairs

Administrative/Biographical History:

The Office of Public Affairs originated as an administrative department of The Johns Hopkins Hospital in the mid 1940s. Originally known as The Johns Hopkins Hospital Public Relations Office, the department later became responsible for the Johns Hopkins Medical Institutions, which at the time consisted of The Johns Hopkins Hospital and its School of Nursing, and the Johns Hopkins University's School of Medicine and School of Hygiene and Public Health.

The department was responsible for media and press relations, special events and projects, and institutional publications including Hopkins Medical News, Dome (originally titled Under the Dome), and the Johns Hopkins Hospital Annual Report.

The department experienced several name changes from 1946 through 1975. From 1946 to 1973, its publications credit the Public Relations Office, or name the Director of Public Relations. For a brief period from 1972 to 1974, several other names for the office were used simultaneously, including the Office of Institutional Public Relations and the Public Affairs Department. By 1975, publications consistently credited the Office of Public Affairs, Johns Hopkins Medical Institutions. This name held until late in 1994, when it was changed to the Office of Communications and Public Affairs.

Following the expansion of the medical campus and the formation of Johns Hopkins Medicine in 1996, which brought together the Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine with the Johns Hopkins Hospital and Health System, the office was brought under the banner of Johns Hopkins Medicine and focused more exclusively on its divisions. The Johns Hopkins University School of Hygiene and Public Health (later renamed the Bloomberg School of Public Health) and the Johns Hopkins University School of Nursing created their own communications departments.

Scope and Content:

The Office of Public Affairs Photograph Collection contains photographic materials produced for the office's three primary functions: media and press relations, institutional publications, and special projects and events. Well represented in the collection are portraits of faculty and staff at the Johns Hopkins Medical Institutions. Additionally, the collection contains many photographs documenting health care operations at The Johns Hopkins Hospital; facilities and equipment; and special events such as press conferences, lectures and symposia, exhibits, commemorations, and other celebrations and ceremonies. The collection comprises a variety of photographic materials, including original negatives, photographic prints and slides, and copy photographs produced by the Alan Mason Chesney Medical Archives for preservation and access.

Archival Arrangement:

The collection is arranged into three series representing photographs produced for publications; portraits compiled for the office's "doctor files"; and original negatives shot by the office's staff photographers.

Language: English

Related Archival Material Element:

Many photographs that originated from the Office of Public Affairs were integrated into other topical photograph collections by archives staff, most notably the People at Work and Portraits of Individuals photograph collections. Additional photographs produced by the office are located in the records of its successor body, Johns Hopkins Medicine, Office of Marketing and Communications.

Table of Contents

Series 1 Publications photographs

Series 2 Photographs from the Office of Public Affairs Doctor Files

Series 3 JHMI Office of Public Affairs negatives

Series 1: Publications photographs - 1975-1984; 1972-1985

Scope and Content: This series contains photographs taken for Johns Hopkins Medical Institutions (JHMI) internal publications. The publications include Dome, the JHMI employee newsletter; Hopkins Medical News, a magazine featuring primarily clinical topics; The Johns Hopkins Hospital Annual Report; The Hopkins Nurse, a newsletter for The Johns Hopkins Hospital nursing staff; and the hospital's Children's Center News.

Related Archival Materials Element: Original photographic negatives taken for Office of Public Affairs publications are located in Series 3: Office of Public Affairs Negatives.

Sub-series 1.1: Dome photographs - 1978-1985

Archival Arrangement: Photographic prints published in the Dome for most issues from November, 1978 to January, 1985 were organized by issue from the office. This original order was maintained.

Related Archival Materials Element: Photographs taken for the Dome are also located throughout the People at Work and Portraits of Individuals photograph collections (arranged topically and alphabetically by last name, respectively). Photographs taken for the Dome after January, 1985 are also located in Series 2, Photographs from the Office of Public Affairs Doctor Files (arranged alphabetically by last name), and in the records of the office's successor body, Johns Hopkins Medicine Marketing and Communications, Sub-series 1.1, Dome Photographs (arranged alphabetically by topic or last name). Additionally, original photographic negatives taken for the Dome from 1967-1988, including many unpublished shots, are located in Series 3, Office of Public Affairs Negatives.

Sub-series 3.2: Richard W. Linfield and Alexandra Peeler negative files - 1967-1976

Creator: Linfield, Richard W.; Peeler, Alexandra A.

Extent: 5,294 negatives : b&w. ; 35 mm.; 31 negatives : safety, b&w. ; 6 x 6 mm.; 5 negatives : safety, b&w. ; 5 x 7 in.; 30 contact sheets

Scope and Content: Richard Linfield was a Johns Hopkins University photographer who did work for the Office of Public Affairs from the mid 1960s to the late 1970s. Linfield photographed primarily for Under the Dome, but also for The Johns Hopkins Gazette, Johns Hopkins Magazine, and the Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine catalog. In 1971, Alexandra Peeler became editor of Under the Dome, a position she would hold until 1975. At this time, Peeler also took on photography duties for the publication, although Linfield continued to contribute as a photographer. Since Under the Dome in this era does not include photography credits, and some of the events photographed for the publication appear to have been taken from two different cameras, it is difficult to attribute specific shots taken for Under the Dome during the time period of 1972-1975.

Sub-series 3.4: Office of Public Affairs negative files, Blow-Up laboratory file - circa 1978-1988

Extent: 3,142 negatives : b&w. ; 35 mm.; 1 contact sheet

Scope and Content: This sub-series contains negatives that were maintained by Blow-Up, a Baltimore photographic laboratory used by the Office of Public Affairs from the late 1970s to the late 1980s. The photographs contain many images of Johns Hopkins faculty and staff at work, special events, and buildings. The photographs were taken largely for institutional publications, primarily Dome. Notes written on some of the original glassine envelopes credited Johns Hopkins photographer Steve Push. Other photographers have been identified by credits in the institutional publications.

Archival Arrangement: The negatives were assigned with a numbering system by the laboratory for ongoing reprint requests. This original numbering system has been maintained.
